Wailing Sirens, Whistles For C.D. Test Today; Wennik Asks Conelrad Aid

The wail of air raid sirens and hoarse blasts of plant whistles will reach into every section of town this afternoon.

But no public participation in the Civil Defense test is necessary.

C. D. Director Harold Wennik said sirens and whistles will give a "yellow" warning at 1:30 p.m. followed by a "red alert" at 2:15. Each signal will last three minutes. The "yellow" warning is a steady, sustained sound on sirens and whistles. The "red alert" is intermittent blasts on whistles and a warbling siren.

Wennik said wardens, under the direction of Gordon Cannon, will be spotted in all sections of town to check the sound coverage in even the remotest spot in town.

Conelrad Friday

On Friday, as part of the national Civil Defense test, all Andover residents are urged to tune their radios to 640 or 1240 - for an official Conelrad test. All stations will be off the air from 4:10 to 4:25 while the two official C.D. stations take over as they would in an emergency. Andover residents are asked by Director Wennik to report difficulty in receiving the broadcasts, as the government is attempting to test the reception in all areas.

The visit this week of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Andover finds all types of blood in short supply, according to area headquarters in Boston.

At the same time, Miss Barbara Loomer, executive secretary of the Andover chapter, noted that demands for blood in the town exceeded donations. At the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1955, the Red Cross had provided 205 pints of blood to Andover residents. At

Announces Plans For Addition To Parochial School

An expansion program for St. Augustine's school is being planned.

The Rev. Henry B. Smith, O.S.A., pastor of the church, announced the plans Sunday morning.

He said the school will be expanded to meet present and future needs. It is the same problem that is facing the rest of the town, he pointed out, that of expansion.

More detailed plans for the project will be announced after property negotiations have been concluded, Fr. Smith explained.

L. L. All-Stars To Play July 31

Andover's Little League All-Stars will play their first game July 31 at the Playstead against a Lawrence Central team.

The 14 All-Stars - named from all four teams - drew a "by" in the first round, thus entering directly into the quarter finals on the 31st.

Under all-star competition, a team must win all its games, one loss eliminating the team from further play.

Named to coach the All-Stars were A.L. Carpentier of the Yankees, J. Prochazka, Red Sox and Lafayette Stickney, Cardinals.

Boys named to the team are

At least 2711 students will be enrolled in public schools here in September.

But Supt. Edward I. Erickson has predicted the actual attendance will be above the announced figure.

School enrollment has more than doubled since 1945, according to Erickson's records. In 1950, there were 1739 youngsters enrolled and in 1945 - 10 short years ago - there were only 1276. The 1955 enrollment was 2562 - 149 less than the prediction for September.

The anticipated enrollment figures show 1721 in kindergarten through sixth grade; 610 in the three junior high school grades

Town Manager Bill May Reach Governor Today

The Town Manager bill may reach Governor Herter's desk this week - possibly today.

The bill was ordered to a third reading Tuesday in the Senate and was listed next-to-last on the calendar for action Wednesday. The Senate Clerk's office said favorable action on the bill Wednesday afternoon - formally called passing to be engrossed - probably would clear the bill for the governor's action this week.

Under formal state house procedure, once the bill is passed to be engrossed by the Senate, it goes to the Secretary of State's office, thence to the House and the Senate to be "passed to be enacted". That procedure usually takes only seconds in each branch of the Legislature, state house sources said.

Despite the formalities, the Senate Clerk said the bill might be on the governor's desk today for final action.

Legal Action Asked On Elm Ct. Fence

The long-drawn-out controversy about the fence on Elm ct. has been turned over to town counsel for action.

The selectmen Monday night read a letter from Chief David Nicoll in which he said a portion of the fence is a traffic hazard. The selectmen have asked town counsel to take action on the matter.

Half of the fence, according to Chief Nicoll's report, has been changed to meet safety requirements. The other half has not been fixed but has been moved off town land. However, he said that half is still a safety problem.

Robandy Rd. Folks Ask Regulations On Street Acceptance

Residents of Robandy rd. want to know what they have to do to have their street accepted.

The BPW received the information request Monday night.

The board agreed to have Engineer Ralph Preble run a profile on the street for comparison with the original. He will also write the residents outlining the specifications a street must meet before it can be accepted.

There was some discussion among board members about accepting streets that did not meet present standards but no decision was taken other than to provide information for the residents.

One Candidate Only

Many thinking individuals have hoped that Andover might recapture its seat in the state legislature this fall.

As most men and women recall, J. Everett Collins held one seat in this triple district with two men from Methuen usually winning the other two posts. When Mr. Collins stepped down, three Methuen men won Republican nominations and, thus, the election in November.

That was two years ago — when Atty. Arthur Williams came within a handful of votes of receiving the nomination, which finally went to Thomas Slack of Methuen.

This had appeared to be the year to restore the old balance — one that has served well during the years. Many voters, while harboring no ill feeling against any of the incumbents, have hoped that one Andover resident would be nominated to represent this end of the fairly large district.

But it looks now as though Andover's chances are slim indeed.

For practical politicians tend to agree that no Andover resident can receive the GOP nomination unless he is the only candidate from this town. They argue that a resident of this community must pick up many votes in Methuen, No. Andover and Ward One of Lawrence — votes that are primarily cast "against" the incumbents. With only one man in the field from Andover, he would get those votes. These, plus substantial support from Andover voters and from his old and new friends in the other parts of the district might be enough to nominate him.

But two candidates from Andover would split the out-of-town vote and likely would hurt each other here in town too. Thus, the politicians say, the incumbents are home free — no contest — all because there are too many Andover men in the race.

On several occasions we have expressed our desire to see a local man nominated and elected. And so we feel badly that two men are now in the contest, for they will surely split the vote, creating their own defeat.

One candidate from Andover would be in a doubly strong position this year because there are no other candidates challenging the incumbents. The three — Reps. Frank S. Giles Jr., William Longworth and Thomas Slack — have no opposition in their hometown.

It certainly is a shame that something can't be done to present a united front behind one candidate in the September primary.

Is Your Car Safe?

How good are your brakes? Your tires? Your lights?

How safe is your car when you drive it along our main streets?

If you don't know the answer to those questions, you'd better find out.

Because national statistics show that many highway accidents are caused by faulty automobiles — tires refusing to grip the road because treads are gone; brakes suddenly gone soft; headlights out of kilter causing poor vision or blinding an oncoming motorist; brake and tail lights out of order so that stop along-side the road at night is a dangerous one. Literally there are a hundred-and-one things about your car that might cause an accident.

From time to time we intend to remind you about important car faults — through the medium of pictures taken right here in Andover showing what some of you are driving around with. For instance, in this week's issue is a car with a broken rear light — mighty dangerous if the driver stopped along a dark road at night.

It is our mutual responsibility to correct any faulty condition that might lead to your being a statistic in the morning papers — it's time for all to take a hand in preventing as many automobile accidents as possible because the death toll, mounting month by month, is a truly frightening thing.

Navy Ensign Everett MacAskill Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett MacAskill, 8 Sutherland st., recently flew his first solo flight at Whiting Field Naval Auxiliary Air station in Milton, Fla. He is a graduate of Middlebury college. He will receive further instruction at Whiting in precision air work.

and 380 in the three senior high grades.

The 1956-'57 first grade attendance is set at 252 — a rugged reminder of future school housing problems when that class becomes the senior class. There are only 100 students in the senior class of 1957.

By classes, the expected enrollment will be: kindergarten, 212; first grade, 252; second, 247; third, 261; fourth, 278; fifth, 222; sixth, 229; seventh, 200; eighth, 220; ninth, 190; tenth, 130; eleventh, 110 and twelfth, 100. There are also 40 special students already scheduled for the fall.

There will be 159 students in the Bradlee school; 342 in Shawsheen; 337 in West; 636 in Central; 196 in Stowe; 71 in Jackson and 970 in the junior-senior high.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — July 1906

The regular monthly meeting of Andover Grange was held Tuesday evening and following the business, a very enjoyable entertainment was presented by Charles H. Newton. It consisted of vocal solos, a brass quartet and orchestra. Refreshments were served.

Joel E. Newcomb has been appointed station agent at Epping, N.H. He is a resident of Ballardvale.

Mrs. S. A. Lyon, mother of Mrs. A. H. Fuller, celebrated her 84th birthday last Wednesday. She received many cards and gifts and many friends called at her home during the day.

The annual Free church Sunday school picnic will this year be held at Bailey's grove at Haggatt's pond.

The Andover Guild baseball team was defeated by the Young Defenders of Lawrence by a score of 3-2 Saturday afternoon on the old P.A. campus.

The Hustlers baseball team and the Elks played five innings of a baseball game Saturday afternoon on the Playstead but were forced to stop on account of the big game. The Hustlers were leading, 4-3, when a halt was called.

Several automobiles, enroute to Bretton Woods, N.H., passed through town Thursday morning.

The Young Tiger baseball team played a Wakefield team in that town Saturday and beat them, 3-2.

Much destruction was caused by Saturday night's thunder storm.

25 Years Ago — July 1931

BPW Supt. Charles T. Gilliard has put 45 men to work on the water extension project along River rd. to Chandler rd. The men will install some 4300 feet of six-inch main. It will be the last water extension this year, using up the $15,000 appropriated at the last town meeting.

The vault alarm at the Andover National bank clanged for 20 minutes Tuesday morning just after one o'clock — but neighbors poking their heads out the windows saw only a single police officer and a couple of passers-by standing near the building. A repairman fixed the delicate mechanism Tuesday afternoon.

The Postoffice has reported that 200 families have left town for the summer and 181 individuals are away this week on vacations. Officials said the number about equals last summer's vacation-time exodus. The Postoffice keeps a record of vacationing families so that mail can be forwarded promptly.

Crowds averaging 400 a day are using Poms pond during the hot weather. Some 600 persons were there Tuesday.

Only 20 members of the Lions club attended the semi-monthly meeting last night at the Square and Compass club. The lure of golf and the beaches apparently was too much for many members who did not turn out for the cold chicken supper.

The Vacation Church school will conduct graduation exercises next Friday night in Free church. Certificates will be presented and the month's work reviewed.

The newly-organized baseball team of St. Joseph's church in Ballardvale defeated the Trojans, 15-3, Tuesday night.

Police Capt. George Dane has warned all dog owners to keep the animals restrained, according to law, or they will be shot on sight.

10 Years Ago — July 1946

The Daily Vacation Bible school will close Friday. It has been held for two weeks at the South church, with 55 children attending.

Firemen are pleased with their carnival at the playstead last Thursday through Sunday and are already planning next year's event. It will be held during the week of July 4 and will include an old-fashioned firemen's muster.

A complaint from the Wood estate Tuesday night reported that Mr. Wood found the table set for supper when he got home — and saw a young woman running from the house. Several windows were broken. Police said a former resident of Andover, without criminal intent, stopped to prepare supper for herself and an imaginary husband. She was returned to Danvers state hospital.

P. W. Moddy, scoutmaster of Troop 76, reports the scouts who went on the trip to Long Pond, Rangely, Me., had a fine time. They climbed Saddleback mountain and enjoyed hiking and canoeing.

Pack 72 of the Free church held an outing at Camp Dad Sarge, Pomp's pond, Saturday, June 29. Achievement awards were presented during the afternoon.

Members of the Junior Woman's Union of West church were invited to the summer home of Mrs. Halbert Dow at Rye beach last Thursday evening.

A special meeting of the school committee will be held in the high school at 7:30 July 30. All members have been urged to attend.

The bonfire committee of Ballardvale's Fourth of July celebration committee has extended its thanks to all who contributed material or helped in putting the bonfire up.

Good Time Had By Youngsters At Annual Outing

Between four and five hundred playground youngsters enjoyed Tuesday's outing at Canobie Lake.

In addition to the many amusements, they took part in foot races staged by playground personnel.

Seven buses left Central school between 10:15 and 10:30 Tuesday morning while many more went to the Lake via private cars.

Visitor Of Years Ago Recalls Happy Days At Chandler Farm

By Gertrude Sullivan Hills

It was a warm morning in May, 1885, or thereabouts, that my parents discovered "The Farm". They were driving along in the "carry-all", a linen "duster" robe thrown over my mother's knees and on the horse's head a crocheted cap of white cord in open diamond shaped mesh, with holes for the ears to pass through. They turned from the main highway to the back road, sandy, but with two worn tracks for the wheels to pass along, another for the horse's hoofs, green grass growing between. A half mile up the back road "the farm" came into view, in fact it seemed to block the end of the road. A huge, silver-leaved poplar tree hung over one end of the house, two stories, long and low, with a door in the middle, yellow with green blinds. The house on its right end connected with the wood shed, the wood shed connected with tool house, the tool house connected with the carriage house, and at right angles to this long line of buildings was the barn - but more of this wonderful barn later.

My parents pulled up on the front lawn, dropped "the weight" and attached the cord to the horse's head. Mrs. Chandler came to inquire their errand, and they were ushered into the parlor, a large square room at the left of the front door.

"No, they had never thought of taking summer boarders. Yes, there was ample room. Moreover, the family had never done such a thing."

I never knew how my mother induced them to change their minds, but she was very attractive and with great powers of persuasion. However, in June our whole family arrived at the Chandler farm, and there we came for 15 successive summers.

Grandmother and I went by train, and the family trunks, plus my mother's own hair mattress were checked on the train with us.

ANDOVER

We were met at the Andover station by Mr. Chandler in the Democrat wagon and driven the two miles to the farm.

My parents, with my four year old sister and nurse maid, drove in the carry-all from Boston, to get the horse there. As it was an all day trip to West Andover, they picnicked by the road side at noon. We ate supper together at the farm, having the sitting room for our own private dining room and being waited on by Miss Bertha, the lovely daughter of the family, in her early twenties, and as charming in manner and appearance as any young society girl.

Spacious Quarters

Grandmother was to occupy a small room off this sitting room for her own. It had a priceless "low boy" over which was an old gilt framed mirror, and a colonial rocker stood by the window.

My mother and father had a large room over the parlor with five windows. Opening off this room was a smaller one for my sister and me. We all had wooden wash stands with china bowl and pitcher, matching soap dish and mug, and the customary slop jar of painted tin with a fitted cover, standing on the floor beside each wash stand. With great care in bathing and the help of the "splasher" of embroidered linen tacked on the wall over the wash stand, we seldom got drops of water on the wall paper. I never knew just where Nurse Edith did sleep in the house, but she appeared in our room every morning to "do" our hair and help us wash, and later she would carry the slop jars down stairs, and we would see them drying on the ground by the lilac bush in the sunshine near the back porch.

On this back piazza was a pump in the iron sink and a wash basin, and although I was never around at that early hour, I believe that is where "Bill William", the hired man, performed his morning ablutions.

It was a peaceful, happy life on the farm. Every morning mother would drive my father to the station and at night drive again to meet the arrival of the five o'clock train out of Boston. My sister and I would walk down the road to the pine grove and wait there to be picked up and driven back.

Supper was a delicious meal, often corn oysters, fresh asparagus and vegetables from the farm. On Sundays the dessert was always sponge cake with ice cream frozen on the back piazza by "Bill William" turning the freezer for one half hour. We would sit on the front lawn Sunday evenings after supper to watch the beautiful sunset across the fields, and just about that time Mr. - would appear with his horse and buggy, and Miss Bertha would come from within the house looking unusually pretty in a flowered muslin and with a box of luncheon under her arm. They would go "buggy riding" and have supper out doors, and maybe it would be moonlight when they came home.

Edith stayed around with sister and me during those first years when we were too little to roam about alone, but we liked her and we went on long excursions through the woods to pick ferns and Indian pipe along the Indian ridge.

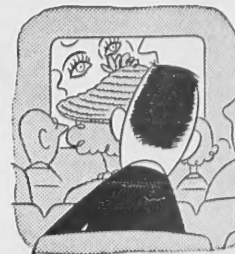

In the barn was a big swing hung from the rafters. One swung with a long, heavy motion out toward the back barn door and looked over the apple orchard. Sometimes Mr. Chandler and "Bill William" would come in to whet their scythes on the grindstone and at night we would watch the milking. We rode on the loads of hay and also on loads of earth in the dump carts and got pretty dirty.

Of course there was no bath room on the farm, but once a week Edith would give us a bath in a tin tub set in the long passage way between the kitchen and the tool house. This tub was placed under the window where was the pump on the back piazza. Water would be passed through to fill the tub, modified in temperature by kettles of water heated on the kitchen stove.

Attic Treasures

On occasional rainy afternoons Miss Bertha unlocked the seldom used door to the steep attic stairs. Up there the very atmosphere had a close cosiness. Though rain pattered on the roof and sometimes lashed against the dormer windows, to us it gave no gloom. To be sure we did not venture to that far, dim corner where shadows played among spinning wheels and antique chairs, for in the clearer light was our permitted place. There, as we lifted the lid of a low leather trunk, were revealed our treasures, dolls of long ago, dolls with bisque, red-cheeked heads, with china hair, china arms, and kid feet with leather ankle ties. There was plentiful dolls' underwear, trimmed with hamburg and neatly fitted with real buttons and button holes. Dresses of flounced skirts with bustles and gored basques, fashioned of silk and velvet, were veritable replicas of Lady Godiva pictures. There were even tiny, real straw bonnets, dolls' hand bags, and corsages, all so carefully kept, that we too must be careful as we handled them. It was a great privilege to play here, so we felt we must live up to this privilege.

West Parish Picnic

One great gala occasion of each summer was the Sunday school picnic. A day was set, and it was announced at service Sunday morning in the little white district church that the church bell would ring if the picnic was to be held. How we listened for that bell if the day was uncertain. We drove with hampers of sandwiches, doughnuts, cookies, and pies to the fragrant pines at Bailey's Grove at Haggett's

Pond. This was before the clear water was used for the town, so from the white sand beach we could go in wading. Swings from the tall trees carried us high over the water. Boat races were rowed as we grew older, and a ball game, married men against bachelors, was played in the afternoon. The high spot, of course, was when the gong sounded for luncheon, when long tables were spread with all the good things those wonderful West Andover cooks had prepared. How we ate, in spite of the crisp potato chips made by Mrs. Bailey, which all day long we'd been munching.

Summer boarders though we were, we were welcomed into the life of the West Parish. We knew and played with the children there. We walked across the white gate road to prayer meetings in the Church vestry, we partook of strawberry festivals. On Sundays we attended service, driving to the Church porch in the carry-all, where after we alighted, gracious C.J. would lead our mare to one of the horse and carriage stalls.

Sometimes when we lingered at the farm into September, we even attended district school and played at recess in the bower of the wide willow tree. Later we chose Abbot academy for pleasing preparatory work. Still do we travel familiar Andover roads in happy recollection, and ever, that New England town with its hills, its orchards, its stretches of farm and woodland, will be our land of lovely memories.

(Editor's note: Miss Frankie E. Sullivan, who brought this recollection of years ago to the Townsman office, said Joshua Chandler owned the farm where the family lived each summer. It is now part of the Andover Country club, she said. Both sisters now live in Marblehead.)

BPW Members To Visit Flint Circle

Residents of Flint cir. have asked the board of public works to take some action to eliminate a dust nuisance along the street.

A petition to the board received Monday night asked the board to do something about the condition, resulting from the street condition. Members of the board will inspect the circle, which they said was a dirt surface. There was some comment also about a potentially serious drainage problem in the section resulting from the diversion of springs. The street is an accepted way, the board agreed.

RECEIVED BEQUEST

An Andover woman, Mabel B. Ward of Prospect rd. was left an antique bureau and a Chippendale table under terms of the will of Mary R. Lakeman of Salem, a cousin. C. Carleton Kimball of School st. was named executor.

Dow Gets Contract For Sewer Work

The Dow Company of Methuen has been awarded a contract for the Sutherland st. sewer extension.

The firm's low bid — amounting to $3372 — just squeaked under the budget figure for the job.

The board of public works received three bids for the work at its Monday night meeting.

The Dow firm bid $300 for a drop manhole and $8 per foot for 384 feet of installation. The board placed the cost of two manhole covers, not included in specifications for the job, at $90. Thus the over-all cost for a complete job would be $3462. They have $3484 in the budget. The contract was awarded with the understanding that one release from a property owner must first be checked. Work will start within two weeks of formal notice that the contract is approved, according to the Dow company.

Other Bids

Residents of the street were at the meeting and asked the board to provide estimated betterment assessments whenever possible.

Other bidders were L. Maiuri and Son of Everett at $400 for the manhole and $16.53 per foot and the J. J. Cronin company of No. Reading with a bid of $300 for the manhole and $9 per foot.

Society Is Given Property, Funds

The Andover Historical society will receive the bulk of the estate of Miss Caroline M. Underhill according to her will, which has been filed in the Registry of Probate in Salem. The testament, signed Feb. 8, 1950 and containing codicils dated Dec. 27, 1951 and May 3, 1953, bequeathed $25,000, realty and half of the residue to the organization.

In recognition of their "faithful and devoted service to the Andover Historical society," Charles W. Damon and Ruth E. Gibson, both of Andover, were awarded $2000 each. The Andover Home for the Aged was left $1000 and the South church was left $1000 in trust. It will be known as the "Julia Underhill Robinson Fund," the income to be used under the direction of the Women's Union of the church.

As a memorial to her parents, Hazen R. and Rebecca D. Underhill, the Central Congregational church of Derry, N.H. was bequeathed $2000 in trust for general purposes of the church.

The income from the $25,000 gift to the historical society is to be used in part for additions and improvements and for the maintenance of the buildings and grounds and to promote the best interests of the society along educational and cultural lines. Her old fashioned furniture and realty at 97 Main st. were also left to the society.

A legacy of $300 was listed for Nellie Williamson of Andover.

The second half of the residue of the estate was awarded to the Congregational Board of Ministerial Relief in New York City in trust, the income to be used for the welfare of aged ministers and their wives. In memory of her mother, it will be known as the "Rebecca Underhill Fund".

Mrs. Gladys Marshall of Manchester was left $2000 and all rugs, books, furniture and miscellaneous tangible articles not given to the historical society. The sum of $2000 was left to Hilda D. Atterberg of Rochester, N.Y. She gave $1000 to the Berry

Schools, Inc., of Mt. Berry, Ga. The sum of $500 was awarded to Mrs. Harold L. Palmer of Silver Springs, Md.

Her only heir-at-law is a niece, Miss Dorothy Underhill of Derry, N.H.

Post Office Ave. Will Remain Private Way

Post Office ave. will not be accepted by the selectmen under the emergency legislation giving the board authority to accept private ways long thought to be accepted streets.

Chairman Sidney P. White said the board "feels it would be exceeding our power to work in Post Office ave. under the act."

Atty. Samuel Resnik and others have long asked town acceptance of the private way that runs off Main st. and winds out to Elm st. It is full of deep holes and often is cluttered with refuse.

White said property owners there should ask the planning board to approve acceptance and that board "if it sees fit can grant a variance" of regulations relating to street widths and conditions.

Chlorine Equipment Purchased By Bd.

A contract for a chlorinator was awarded to the Wallace and Terman company at Monday night's BPW meeting.

The firm bid $1215 less a $125 allowance for present chlorinating equipment, for a net price of $1090.

Other bidders were the Fischer and Porter company, $1160 less a $50 allowance and Builders Providence Inc., $1209, no allowance.

of Mr. and Mrs. John George, 30 Jackson st., Haverhill, became the bride of Arthur Flynn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Flynn, 400 Andover st., Ballardvale. The Rev. Leo B. Flynn of Norfolk, uncle of the bridegroom performed the ceremony before an altar arranged with pink and white gladioli. The bride's brother, Louis George, was the soloist and Marion Barrett presided at the organ.

Escorted by her father, the bride chose a full length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin styled with fitted bodice, short sleeves, scalloped portrait neckline and matching mits.

The bouffant skirt had scrolls of rose point lace and a pleated ruffle bordered the hemline. A crown of orange blossoms held her veil of imported illusion and she carried a prayerbook marked with two orchids and streamers of stephanotis.

The bridal attendants included Miss Carolyn Ebba of Haverhill, as maid of honor; Mrs. Henry George and Mrs. John George Jr., sisters-in-law of the bride, as bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of nylon net and taffeta with ivy headpieces. Their flowers were cascades of gladioli, roses and baby's breath.

Edward Sullivan of Andover performed best man duties and the ushers were Barry B. Flynn, brother of the bridegroom; Henry, John and Richard George, brothers of the bride.

A reception in the Haverhill country club followed the ceremony with guests attending from Clinton, Leominster, Walpole, Manchester, N.H., Brooklyn, N.Y. and Wilmington, Del.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Florida. Their new home will be in Haverhill.

The bride was graduated from Haverhill high school and the bridegroom was graduated from Central Catholic high school and Merrimack college.

ANDERSON - THOMPSON

White gladioli and delphinium were arranged on the altar of Christ church Saturday for the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Janet Olive Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon M. Thompson, 14 Arundel st., and Arthur Peter Anderson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Anderson, 54 Winthrop ct., Milford, Conn. The Rev. John S. Moses officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported embroidered organdy designed with a fitted bodice, square neckline and tiny cap sleeves. Her four-tiered bouffant skirt fell to a sweep train. A Juliet cap of matching organdy held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli and stephanotis.

As maid of honor for her sister, Miss Gail Ann Thompson chose an azure blue taffeta gown in waltz length, a white headpiece and she carried pink larkspur, blue delphinium and baby's breath cascading from a white basket. The bridesmaids Mrs. William A. Thomas of Philadelphia, Pa. and Miss Patricia R. Mason of Milford, Conn., classmates of the bride, were identically gowned.

Blakely B. Babcock of Milford, Conn., served as best man and the ushers included Andrew S. Beres and Clifford K. Mason, both of Milford, Conn.; Robert L. Hesse and William O. Hood of Andover.

A reception at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Phillip Clements of Sunset Rock rd., followed the ceremony. The couple left on a wedding trip to Virginia. Their new home will be in Hamden, Conn.

The bride was graduated from Punchard high school and Mount Holyoke college, class of 1956. The bridegroom prepared at Milford academy and was graduated from Trinity college this past June.

Red Cross Is Moving Home

The headquarters of Andover Chapter, American Red Cross, will be moved to 4 Punchard ave., Aug. 1.

The change from 8 Elm st. was necessitated by the need for larger quarters, according to Red Cross officials.

The Punchard avenue address formerly was that of the Home for the Aged. The building has 10 rooms. This will permit the holding of classes and other activities under one roof. It also will provide more space for housing chapter equipment, including the loan department.

Chapter officials saw the move as helping the Red Cross to keep pace with requests for its services. Under the loan department, for example, the chapter has five hospital beds and five wheel chairs, as well as other sick room equipment available for home use. All of the beds are out on loan at present.

The Visiting Nurse headquarters also will be at the same address.

The Red Cross telephone number will remain as at present, 1496.
